

Pôle Sud Paris

A non profit association working for industrial development in the South Paris region.

Fontainebleau is at the center of this region (with its «Château», witness of many centuries of French history, its famous forest, and its INSEAD campus...). It is also very attractive for a living (with international schools for the children) and within one hour from Champs Elysées in Paris, close to worldwide research centers.

Through regular meetings called SYNAPSES, Pôle Sud Paris is the link between innovative enterprises, start-up builders, research laboratories and major companies around (SAFRAN, HUTCHINSON, CORNING, SILEC CABLE, EDF...)

(Cf. <http://www.polesud77.asso.fr/pages/synapses.html>)

Pôle Sud Paris manages close relations with sources of ventures for valorization of research results (laboratories and incubators), and tries to link technological competencies of these partners with the strong business acumen of INSEAD managers who want to undertake success story.
